HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

People of Hillcrest mourned the death of Joseph Stubbs, 76, who passed away on Friday evening last. He was a pioneer of Hillcrest, having resided here for the past thirty years. Born at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, he came out to Canada during the year 1911, first taking employment at Coalhurst as a miner. Funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon at 4.15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carter, with whom he had resided during his many years of residence here. A large procession followed the remains to the Hillcrest cemetery, where interment took place. Pallbearers were J. Grando, P. McNeill, G. Kovach, A. Lazarenko, J. Ironmonger and G. Mills. Surviving are his two daughters in England, Mrs. Isaac Baty and Mrs. Jane Ridley; two brothers, Jack and Harry, in Vancouver, and a niece, Mrs. Robert Henderson, in Hillcrest. Funeral arrangements were in charge of A. E. Ferguson, of the Crows' Nest Funeral Home.

Enis Bosetti, who is attending Garbutt Business College, and J. Boucher, of Calgary, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bosetti, over the week end.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the B.E.S.L. held the second of their series of bridge-whist drives in the Catholic hall on Friday night. Proceeds to go to the soldiers' Christmas fund. Mrs. Huesden and Mrs. Kybicz tied for whist, while Mrs. Moser was winner at bridge.

Ernest Isaac Stevenson, of Blairmore, is among the latest to join the armed forces at Calgary.

CARD OF THANKS

On behalf of those whom we serve, I express my thanks to the townspeople of Blairmore, Coleman and Bellevue for their kind response to my recent appeal for funds. They extended a cordial welcome and they gave cheerfully and generously. Much made my call both pleasant and profitable. I am also grateful to Constable G. R. Stewart who, with the permission of Sgt. Thomas Mudiman, acted as my guide. My personal thanks also to members of the Bellevue Local, U. M. W. of A., who made a generous contribution in support of institute work on the basis of $1.00 per member.

RED CROSS NEEDS WORKERS

On the heels of the news that German raiders have again hit heavily at English cities and towns, Dr. F. W. Routley, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross, said Tuesday that there is a greater need than ever before for volunteer women workers.

Canadian women have done a magnificent job in Red Cross, stated Dr. Routley. Women in their homes, working quietly, without praise or glory, have done yeoman service. They have given freely of their time and energies in the workrooms, blood donor clinics, prisoner-of-war packing plants and in corps service. Supplies running well over the twenty-six million mark have gone overseas in a steady and undiminished stream, because these volunteers have realized the bitter need.

Major General Price, overseas commissioner, has warned that the regular hit-and-run raids on the coastal towns provide a steady drain on Red Cross reserves that must be made up. When you consider the thousands of tons of Red Cross supplies that have already gone into North Africa, it is easy to see what vast reserves must be built up to keep pace with the widening scope of Allied operations. To do this the Red Cross volunteers must keep up the magnificent pace they have set for themselves. It is not time to sit back yet. If we are to meet our commitments as they must be met, Red Cross volunteers throughout the Dominion must stick to the job and see it through.

FORMER BLAIRMORE BOY PASSES IN CALIFORNIA

Word has been received of the death at Bakersfield, California, of Frank E. McLeod, 36, former Blairmore boy. Frank resided at Sandpoint, Idaho, on the Monday prior to his death he was stricken with infantile paralysis, from which he failed to rally. Frank is survived by his widow, the former Ione Raymond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Raymond, of Sandpoint; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McLeod, also of Sandpoint; a son, Donald, aged 13; a daughter, Mary Marcia, aged 2; also three brothers and four sisters. Mrs. H. M. Bennett and Mrs. M. H. Congdon, of Blairmore, are sisters.

Frank was born in Blairmore and received his early schooling here. For several years past he has been connected with the American army, prior to which he was employed in the U. S. forestry service at Bozeman, Montana, and superintendent of the forestry service rubber plant activities since 1935.

The remains were brought back to Bozeman for burial.

Members of Crows' Nest Chapter of the IOOE held a get-together at their hall on Tuesday evening of this week to celebrate their twenty-first anniversary. Bingo and other games were played. Prizes to Grade 9 pupils of the local school who during the past year obtained highest marks, were awarded to Miss Elsie Arrol, first, $5; Miss Hadas, second, $2.50. Their teacher was Miss Frances Tompkins, who has since moved to Calgary.

In a Canadian general hospital to which they were taken upon their return to England from Sicily, Canadian casualties were visited recently by Major-General the Hon. P. J. Montague, the senior officer at Canadian military headquarters. Here, Gen. Montague hears a first-hand account of the Sicilian battle from Pte. J. S. Zak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zak, of Blairmore, Alberta.

BLAIRMORE-FRANK UNIT OF VICTORY LOAN AWAY BIG

The Victory Loan drive in this district, and particularly the Blairmore-Frank unit, is away to a good start, and so far the campaigners are meeting with cordial receptions everywhere they go. "Over The Top" seems to be their slogan, and there is every indication of success.

This unit's quota is $91,000. Up to time of going to press it had reached $13,700, with Coleman at $22,750 and Bellevue-Hillcrest $21,800. Captain of the local team is P. C. Montalban.

Prior to the raising of the "Victory" flag on Sunday afternoon the Macleod air force band and the Blairmore Air Cadets paraded through the town, finally coming to halt in front of Blairmore Centre bandstand, where a large crowd of people had assembled and where they were addressed by Unit Organizer W. H. Chappell and Mayor E. Williams following the flag raising. The efficiency trophy won by the Blairmore Cadets was presented to P.O. S. White for the troop.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES AT VANCOUVER

A former resident of Blairmore, Mrs. Martha A. Sullivan, passed away in Marpole provincial hospital, Vancouver, on October 8th, following a lengthy illness.

Deceased is survived by her husband, Albert Sullivan, of Creston, B.C.; one son, Stanley, with the RCAF overseas; one daughter, Hilda Heywood, and granddaughter, Margaret Heywood, at home in Creston, besides relatives in England.

Funeral was held on Wednesday, October 19th, from T. Edwards memorial chapel, Vancouver, Rev. R. P. Stobbs officiating. Interment was made in Mountain View cemetery. Miss H. Heywood journeyed from Creston to attend the funeral.

HUMAN INTEREST STORY

The story is told of two well known Victory Loan salesmen who called at a certain house in the Crows' Nest Pass and were informed the man of the house was not at home. They persuaded the lady of the house that they would like to step in and talk to her for a few minutes about Victory Bonds. After a few minutes conversation a little lad of about four years stepped up to the salesmen and, pointing to a closed door, informed them that "Daddy's in there!" It was sure an embarrassing moment for dad.

Alberta is short of 925 teachers.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS—

Miss Elsie Wende is attending high school at Pincher Creek for the ensuing term.

Jack O'Connell, of the Macleod airport, was a Cowley visitor on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cleland and son Ivan spent the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cleland at Vauxhall, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cleland at Wrentham.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Easterbrook were Calgary visitors for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tustian and two small daughters, Barbara and Patricia, paid a visit recently to Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wood at Cranbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernst, of Spring Coulee, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their guests visited relatives in Michel on Sunday.

On his visit here, a reception was given for His Lordship Bishop Rags, of Calgary, in the Anglican church on Tuesday afternoon.

Benton Murphy, of the RCAF, is home on embarkation leave. Benton recently visited Vancouver.

Mrs. Cyril Richards, of Turner Valley, was a recent visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cleland.

Miss Jennie Fournier returned on Wednesday from Ottawa, where she was employed with the civil service. Under present regulations Miss Fournier is compelled to resume her former duties as school teacher.

MINERS MAY STRIKE

At a special protest meeting held in the Blairmore Union hall on Saturday afternoon, it was practically decided that if wage negotiations were not proceeding satisfactorily by October 30th, the miners of District 18, U. M. W. of A., would come out on strike.

The recommendation was sent to headquarters of the district along with a resolution endorsing the action of district officials with the National War Labor Board, pointing out that labor was not being represented on the board, also protesting provisions requiring the royal commission to report back to National War Labor Board and the minister of labor.

Greenhill mine was idle on Saturday to permit all miners to attend the meeting.

East Kootenay's Victory Loan quotas total $925,000, comprising Cranbrook $210,000, Creston $155,000, Fernie $200,000, Kimberley $240,000, Natal Michel $75,000 and Windermere Valley $45,000. In the fourth loan a total of $928,000 was subscribed by that district.

TWO MINERS LOST THEIR LIVES

Two well known miners lost their lives through a cave-in at the McGillivray mine at Coleman early on Monday afternoon. Fred Slugg, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Slugg, and Robert Wilson, 47. Slugg's body was recovered at an early hour on Tuesday, while Wilson's body was not reached till a late hour on Wednesday night. Both men were married, the former leaving a wife and one child; the latter a wife and five children.

An inquest is being held. Slugg was well known in hockey and other sport circles.

Funeral service for Robert Wilson will be held at St. Paul's United church at 1 p.m. Sunday, October 24, and for Frederick Peter Slugg at St. Alban's church at 3.30 p.m. same day. Revs. G. A. Kestyls and J. R. Hague, respectively, officiating.

In a Newfoundland paper tenders are invited for the purchase of the following confiscated firearms: 5 12-gauge shotguns, 4 308-rifles, 2 44-rifles, 2 45-70 rifles, 1 16-gauge shotgun and 2 22-rifles. Write to the department of natural resources there. The highest tender will not likely be refused.

Q.—What is the Fifth Victory Loan?

A.—It is another opportunity for Canadians to put their money into the fight for Victory.

Q.—How will my money help win Victory?

A.—It will supply the vital weapons of war needed by our troops overseas.

Q.—How will I benefit personally?

A.—You will be saving your money (with interest) for the post-war period when you may need it more.

Q.—How much should I spend on bonds this time?

A.—At least as much as last time. Every cent you can possibly spare—and a little more.

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

British Women At War

AN EVENT OF GREAT SIGNIFICANCE took place recently in England, when six thousand women, representing all branches of war workers, were invited to the Albert Hall in London as guests of the British government. Mr. Churchill and all the members of his cabinet were present to address the gathering and to answer questions. Among the many fine tributes paid to the women assembled there, was that of Mr. Ernest Bevin, British Minister of Labor and National Service, who told them that "women had tipped the scales between defeat and victory." This point was also emphasized by the Prime Minister in a lengthy and impressive address, during which he warned his listeners that there was much bitter fighting ahead of us, and that it would be disastrous if there should be any slackening of the national effort now. While all those present at the meeting were British women, it was felt that the tributes paid to them were for all women of the United Nations, who are carrying on in industry and in the services, thus releasing men for active duty.

Women Assumed New Positions

For many months after the fall of France, England was potentially a battle zone, and the magnificent determination with which the country was mobilized for defense is well known. At that time the women of Britain took on many new and unfamiliar duties, which they have continued to perform with great success. The British Ministry of Information has given out some interesting details of the way in which Britain's womanpower has been organized. We are told that there are 17,250,000 British women between the ages of eighteen and forty-five and that over 7,000,000 are employed in full-time paid work in the armed forces, civilian defense and in industry. Nearly 10,000,000 of the 17,250,000 mentioned previously, are married women with children under fourteen years of age, and they are not asked to undertake war work. Married women with children over fourteen years old may take part-time employment and there are 600,000 housewives now engaged in part-time positions. Thus it is clear that there has been almost total mobilization of Britain's womanpower, and that by their efforts they may well have tipped the scales between victory and defeat.

Replacing Men In Many Jobs

The extent to which British women are helping in the war industries is shown by figures given by the Ministry of Information. These show that sixty per cent. of the employees in the Royal Ordnance factories are women. These factories are employed in making explosives, filling shells and making guns. Forty per cent. of the workers in the British aircraft industry are women, as are thirty-five per cent. of the employees in engineering and allied industries. While it is pointed out that those who are in war industries and in the services perform the most spectacular tasks, there is almost no occupation outside of actual fighting which the women of Britain have not undertaken. It is said that the female staff in post offices has risen from twenty-three per cent. in 1939 to forty-one per cent. in 1942. Before the war, there were only three full time post-women, and now there are over ten thousand. Eighty-five thousand women are now replacing men in all types of work on the railroads of Britain, and there are over sixty thousand women engaged in full time work in agriculture, in addition to many thousands of seasonal and part-time workers. These are only a few of the many ways in which the women of Britain have assumed their share of the winning of the war. The women of the other United Nations are likewise doing their utmost and there is no doubt but that the tribute paid to them by the Government of Britain was a well-earned one.

In High Society

Some Cows Have Names That Belong To Social Register

Recently we heard of a cow called Springbank Snow Counties, considered that for a few minutes. It calls up a picture of a high-born beauty, chilly and distant in manner, but with a promise of warmth and affection upon closer acquaintance. Another cow is called Glenview Pontiac Dora de Koly; there is a name which would not be amiss in the Social Register. Yet another is Doreen Francey Rag Apple, obviously a skittish, debilitated, cat-society sort of cow. And another well-known to dairymen, is Susie Cordyde Payne Lass, a name fit for a princess among cows.

Think of the thoughtful affection which appears in these names! Think of the pride of the milkmaid or cowman who walks to the pasture gate and calls, "Here Susie Cordyde Payne Lass! Here Doreen Francey Rag Apple!"

And think of the pride of the cow who responds! The winter is no red-eyed old terror with a crumpled horn, but a high-stepping society cow, filled to the neck with cream. Anyone who says that farmers have no imagination merely shows his ignorance.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

SMILE AWHILE

Driver—I could, sir, but I wouldn't like to leave my horse behind!

Guide—This castle has stood for 600 years. Not a stone has been touched, nothing altered, nothing replaced.

Visitor—Um, they must have the same landlord we have.

"I don't know what I would have done if it hadn't been for you!" exclaimed the discharged prisoner.
"You'd have done time," was the dry comment of his attorney.

"I want a pound of butter."
"The best?"
"What was the last I had?"
"The best."

"Give me a pound of the other."
"The best?"
"What was the last I had?"
"The best."

Wife—The fortune-teller said my second husband would be handsome and clever.

Husband—Do you mean to say that you were married once before and never told me about it?

Mr. Smith—Your wife used to be so nervous, now she doesn't seem to show a sign of it. What did you do for her?

Mr. Brown—That was easy; the doctor simply told her nervousness was a sign of age.

Mother: "Now, before you get serious with him, be sure he is always kind."

Daughter: "Oh, I'm sure he is. I heard him say he put his shirt on a horse that was scratched."

Wife: "I'm afraid the mountain air would disagree with me."
Hubby: "My dear, it wouldn't dare!"

"Pop, if I saved you a dollar, would you give me 50 cents of it?"
"Yes, I guess so, son."

"Well, I saved it for you. You told me you would give me a dollar if I passed in arithmetic, and I didn't pass."

"How did the Smith wedding go?"
"Fine, until the parson asked the bride if she'd obey her husband."

"What happened then?"
"She replied: 'Do you think I'm crazy?' And the groom, who was in a sort of daze, replied, 'I do.'"

"Does your husband talk in his sleep?"
"No, and it's terribly exasperating. He just grins."

"Johnson's address was well timed, wasn't it?"
"Yes, two-thirds of the audience had their watches out before he finished."

Lady Movie Patron (turning to man sitting behind her): "Shall I remove my hat?"
Man: "No, that's not necessary, madam. It's much funnier than the comedy on the screen."

Our Boys And Girls On Active Service

(By Ottawa Observer)

FOR the recent Jewish New Year religious holidays, Canadians of that faith were given leave from the armed forces, and in some camps special services were held by chaplains of the Jewish personnel.

Lt.-Col. Charlie E. Bailey, D.S.O., M.C., has returned from overseas to organize a unit of stevedores now serving in the Canadian Army. Although a resident of Vancouver, he was born in Kamloops, that pretty town on the junction of the north and south Thompson rivers.

A number of Western men were among the 41 Canadian Engineer sub- lieutenants of the Royal Canadian Navy who are doing duty now with the Royal Navy. There is Alan M. Cameron of Saskatoon; George Irvin Loucks from out at Invermay, Sask.; Arnold Sobering of Gretna, Manitoba; and E. L. Park of Edmonton. These Western lads are in keen demand in the navy.

A pupil took over from a former instructor at a Canadian fighter wing in the Old Country, when Squadron Leader J. E. Walker, D.F.C. and two bars, succeeded Wing Commander K. Hodson, D.F.C. and bar. The former is an Alberta man, now homing at Edmonton. He will be administrative station commander.

Flying Officer H. T. Brown, of Biggar, Sask., one of the small towns which was a stop for the Royal Trench back in 1938, won the D.F.C. recently, when one engine croaked as he was on the way to Nuremberg, but he kept on and dropped his load successfully. Two nights later he was again on the wing, this time over Berlin.

Long range Liberators of the North Atlantic Command have a sweet time hunting the German pig boats. One of the first to register a successful attack, a crew member and co-pilot on one, was Warrant Officer A. J. Bisset of Vegreville, Alta. Helping to drop those lethal depth charges on another U-boat was Sgt. Lloyd Connelley, a fellow Albertan from Drumheller.

Decorations have been coming thick and fast to Canadians in the three services and Western boys are sure in the "getting" class. From Llac, Sask., a little farming community, was Squadron Leader W. C. Kessner, who won a Bar to his D.F.C. and very high praise. Pilot Officer C. W. Faddock of Elkhorn, Man., has been awarded a D.F.C. as well as a P.O. G. W. Duffield, Lloydminster, Sask., and S. R. Flitgason, of Broadview, were awarded a Distinguished Flying Medal.

Now that the army lads have been on the push through Sicily and Italy, acknowledgments of bravery are being announced for them, two privates, Wilfrid Bailey, of Neepawa, Man., and L. J. Tuppen, of Winfield, Alta., get the coveted Military Medal.

A new fast-shooting combination called Twin-Bren Guns which can do more than excite was demonstrated for the first time not so long ago at Currie Barracks, Calgary, and the boys think it's something which the Jerries won't like.

The party of two officers and 12 ratings of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service were certainly given a grand reception in London, first of their kind to arrive for overseas service. Bomb scarred London, veteran of four years of war, her streets crowded with uniforms of members of all the United Nations forces, but still the capital of the Empire, everyone took the girls to their hearts and really made them welcome. Press photographers and newsmen vied with each other for interviews.

WINTERING BEES

Mainly because the honey in northern countries is stored in the form of clovers, it is more wholesome for wintering bees than honey from the south. Dandelion honey has proved fatal to bees. Honey from hard maple or from pure alfalfa, and honey from white goldenrod, granulates so hard in the combs that wintering bees are unable to use it.

No Luxury Sizes

New Order Has Standardized Length And Width Of Towels

Production of an additional 175,000 towels yearly is expected as a result of a new standardization and simplification measures order of the wartime prices and trade board which became effective Oct. 5.

The new order prohibits luxury sizes of towels, standardizes production of popular sizes, freezes quality and designs and limits color ranges. Similar restrictions have been placed on wash cloths and bath mats.

"Plain terry towels are restricted in width to a maximum of 24 inches," he continued. "Jacquard or crested terry towels may be made no longer than 45 inches and no wider than 24 inches. Wash cloths no larger than 12 by 12 inches."

The maximum size for plain terry towels has been set at 17 by 32 inches, thus eliminating three large sizes. A maximum width of 20 inches and length of 36 inches has been fixed for Jacquard or crested terry towels.

Each manufacturer of bath mats will be restricted to a maximum of two sizes, the official said, and in no case can he increase the number of sizes he now markets. To avoid production changeover losses, constructions and patterns have been frozen to those made for sale during the past six months.

A Better World

Lord Halifax Says Four Nations Have The Most To Contribute

Ambassador Lord Halifax, in an article written for the magazine "World Affairs," expresses the belief that the United States, Britain, Russia and China are the nations which have the most to contribute in "getting the world on its feet again after the war."

"Between us," he writes, "we dispose of a very large part of the world's resources in manpower, industrial strength and material wealth. If we want a better world it is up to us to get it started."

"Small powers know to their grief how discord or inertia among the great can make small problems into big ones and big ones into calamities. They rightly look to us, the great powers, to see that this sort of thing does not happen again."

"If the dream of world security is to come true, it can only be on the condition that each . . . is willing to assume its just burden of responsibility."

FARM ANIMAL DISEASES

For various reasons, certain infectious diseases of farm animals have been considered so important that the responsibility for their control has been placed in official hands. Among other duties, the Health of Animals Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, is charged with this responsibility and operates under an Act of Parliament. Anthrax, malade du cott, glanders, hog cholera, swine plague, rabies, mange and sheep scab are the diseases listed.

APPLEFORD PAPER PRODUCTS LIMITED

Will Send All Available Foods To Great Britain

OTTAWA.—Consideration now is being given contracts under which Canada will supply the United Kingdom with vital food supplies in 1944, with the certainty the Dominion will continue a major factor in maintaining British cohesion, it was learned here.

One of the first contracts to be decided will be that for bacon. This year Canada is seeking to supply 675,000,000 pounds and officials said it was believed this objective would be attained because of a tremendous gain in hog production.

"There is a limit to production and while it may not have been reached even yet, the prospects are that Canada will not undertake to provide the United Kingdom with any large additional quantity in 1944," said one authority.

"Canadian contracts usually are worded in such a way that the Dominion agrees to supply the United Kingdom with 'not less than the amount announced. Under such an arrangement the shipments may not be limited to the poundage figure mentioned, if conditions are such that an additional amount may be provided. This system is expected to remain operative during 1944."

On this basis, Canada might undertake to provide bacon to the quantity of 675,000,000 pounds in 1944, plus whatever could be produced in addition.

Besides bacon, Canada is making an all-out effort this year to provide the United Kingdom with 150,000,000 pounds of cheese and 40,000,000 dozen eggs. There is little prospect that these contracts will be met in full, but alternative shipments, such as butter, mean that the total Canadian contribution in food will not be far short of what the British expected.

Officials said that reduced crops this year may have their effect on the amount of food Canada can export next year, but the major feed reserves in the west are a guarantee there will be no catastrophic reduction from this cause.

Labor and prices are important factors which cause some anxiety to the authorities who indicate to Britain what Canada will be able to produce in the coming year.

The government free-freight policy for feed and cereals giving protection on feed prices have been a safeguard for farmers increasing their farm output to meet overseas requirements. But with labor shortages, difficulties in obtaining machinery replacements and high wages in other industries, some farmers have indicated their desire for further price adjustments.

Beef may be added to the Canadian exports in the coming year. With good feed supplies in the west, farmers have made only moderate marketings thus far in the fall, but a rush of well-finished animals is expected later when the price ceiling on beef rises.

If a surplus is left after home requirements have been met shipments to the United Kingdom are in prospect. Canadian beef also would be welcome among other United Nations.

THIRTY-DAY TRIP

Torpedoed Men Row Lifesboat 2,800 Miles Across Indian Ocean

LONDON.—Nine seamen from a Norwegian tanker which was torpedoed by a Japanese raider, sailed and towed a lifeboat more than 2,800 miles across the Indian ocean in a 30-day voyage, the Norwegian government reports.

Nineteen men started the voyage after the raider sank their ship six days out of an Australian port. Ten died of wounds from shell splinters and from exhaustion during the trip, the captain said.

On the 18th day, after four had died, the boat capsized in a rough sea but the men managed to cling to the craft and right it.

During the next 12 days six more died but on the 30th day land was sighted. It proved to be Madagascar.

ORANGES FOR BRITAIN

LONDON.—Citrus-hungry Britain learned that 84,000,000 oranges have reached this country—for youngsters only. Food Minister Lord Woolton said children up to five will receive two pounds of oranges each, and those between five and 16 will get one pound. Retailers must reserve their supplies for children for five days after receiving their stocks, then the remainder can be cleared without restriction.

Occupation Of Azores Is Now Said In Progress

LONDON.—The Azores agreement was regarded in London as the initial victory in an Allied diplomatic offensive to complete the military and diplomatic isolation of Germany.

Next on the agenda, diplomats observers believed, were:

1. Outright Spanish neutrality including withdrawal of the Spanish blue division from Russia, the ending of the Nazi propaganda influence, a clean-up and deportation of Nazi spies and agents, and a ban on Spanish discrimination against the Allies.

2. Elimination of Finland from the war.
3. Elimination of as many as possible of the Balkan Axis satellites, with the Allies offering military assistance.

It was not expected that the entire program could be realized immediately, but it represents the minimum short-term objectives on which Allied diplomats are working.

The Portuguese move also sets a precedent for possibly similar action by Turkey under the terms of the Anglo-Turkish alliance which has remained suspended thus far under circumstances generally paralleling those governing the Portuguese treaty.

It is obvious that transit rights for Allied troops and air bases in Turkey would be most useful for any Allied operations in the Balkans. Thus the British Ninth and Tenth Armies in the Levant could move directly into Greece and Bulgaria and have access to the Black Sea and the Bulgarian and Rumanian coasts.

Reports from Lisbon said British troops were landing on the principal islands of the Azores under cover of a powerful naval escort while Prime Minister Churchill was announcing the agreement with Portugal in common.

R.A.F. planes, including some carriers and others from coastal command shore bases, already have been dispersed on island air fields. Naval forces were on protective patrol about the island even before the agreement was announced.

A large British contingent was reported by Madrid to have landed on Terceira, second largest island in the mid-Atlantic archipelago. The Nazi Scandinavian Telegraph bureau said Terceira contains the largest air bases in the Azores and is heavily fortified. A large number of R.A.F. planes recently made "forced landings" on Terceira, Nazi reports said. Technical groups, engineers, air forces personnel and anti-aircraft units were first ashore, Madrid heard. The troops landed directly on wharves, rather than from landing barges.

CHANNEL ISLANDS

Tea And Coffee Selling At $110 A Pound

LONDON.—Residents of the Nazi-occupied channel islands have to pay $28—approximately $110—a pound for tea and coffee, unless they are content to drink acorn coffee and bramble tea.

And even at that price, informed London sources say, supplies are available only to the black market, once ordinary stocks were exhausted two years.

It has also been reported that the Germans, adding insult to injury, sent the island's celebrated tomato crop to France for sale at two pence a pound.

PROBLEM SOLVED

Automatic Gadget Takes Bomber Through Barrage Balloon Cables
LONDON.—British bombers now "shoot" their way through any barrage balloon cables they hit with automatic Ruby-Goldberg gadgets. At points placed along the front wing edge are short plugs against which the cables catch with great impact due to the plane's speed. The impact works a trigger which sets off an explosive cartridge in the wing. The explosion drives forward a small nickel-chrome steel chisel which pins the cable against a little "anvil" in the plug and severs it.

All this happens so fast the plane's progress is unimpeded.

The gadget was patented by James Baker, an airplane plant manager before the war.

ALASKA HIGHWAY

Canadian Artists To Record Work Of The R.C.A.F.

OTTAWA.—A. Y. Jackson, dean of Canadian painters, is on a government assignment to record the work of the R.C.A.F. on the Alaska highway, as well as other features of the great road, it was announced here.

Mr. Jackson is accompanied by H. G. Clyde, head of the art department of the Institute of Technology, Calgary. Both artists are working under direction of the National Gallery of Canada.

PART OF PROGRAM

Mussolini's Government Orders Death Penalty For Italian Patriots
AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER—Mussolini's Fascist republican government, getting in step with the stern measures of the Nazi occupation forces, ordered the death penalty for Italian civilians who fail to heed German and Fascist decrees.

The order was part of a program to quell patriot activities in northern Italy.

Numerous summary executions were reported throughout northern Italy where underground activities were said to endanger troop movements to the battlefronts in the Italian peninsula.

FILM DIRECTOR HONORED

OTTAWA.—Richard Rosson, who directed the film "Corvette K225," which tells the story of the Royal Canadian Navy's corvettes, will receive the "Award for Service" medal of the Navy League of Canada when he comes to Ottawa for the premiere of the film here, it was announced.

SHOWS TRUE COLORS

STOCKHOLM.—Fritz Clausen, head of the Danish Nazi party, was arrested recently by the Germans and sent to fight on the eastern front because he was accused of diverting to his own use 100,000 Danish crowns given to his party by Berlin.

Mary Churchill Aboard Renown

Subaltern Mary Churchill watching a practice shoot, with a sailor aboard the battleship H.M.S. Renown on which she and her father and mother crossed to Britain.

Business Booms On The Alaska Highway

Supply trucks and tank trucks, loaded to capacity, roll in endless convoys along the Alaska highway, going north with the snows of war. Completed in record time, the Alaska Highway is still unpaved and pretty tough in spots, but there are some stretches where trucks can speed up to 40 m.p.h. The ride is called the "world's toughest grind."

Steel Bridge Instead Of Old Stern-Wheeler

The first permanent steel bridge on the Alaska highway in this one over the Peace River. Before it was opened army trucks speeding snows of war to northern outposts, were ferried over the river on the old stern-wheeler. Since the bridge was opened on Aug. 15, the volume of traffic has been greatly increased.

Sea Lord Retires

Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, who has retired from the post of Britain's first sea lord because of ill health.

ALLIED AIR FORCES

Are Hastening Day Of Final Victory
Declares Churchill

LONDON.—Prime Minister Churchill declared in congratulatory messages to the R.A.F. and the United States 8th Air Force that "we shall together inexorably beat the life out of industrial Germany and thus hasten the day of final victory."

Mr. Churchill told the American unit its achievements in the Battle of Germany "have contributed not only to the success of Allied arms everywhere."

The prime minister told the R.A.F. that the war cabinet realized the significance of the fact that the bombing of Germany had forced the German air force "from the offensive to the defensive, both operationally and in new construction."

AGAINST BIG ODDS

Four Allied Planes Won Fight With Forty-Four Japanese

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS SOUTHWEST PACIFIC.—Four Allied fighter planes have won a thrilling David-and-Goliath engagement with the Japanese.

High above the strategic, enemy-held New Guinea, airdrome, four of the fighters were hopped by 44 Japanese planes.

An Allied communique announced that the fighters shot down at least eight of the Jap planes and probably two others. The enemy squadron, 32 fighters and 12 bombers, was completely broken up. None of the Allied planes were lost, although the odds were eleven to one against them.

CAUGHT BY SEARCHLIGHT

LONDON.—Beams from the lights of two searchlight crews in the river Humber area caught a Nazi raider as it crossed the coast and the bomber immediately went into a shallow dive and crashed to the ground.

Rescue Plane To Be Sent To Lonely Fur Post.

WINNIPEG.—Supplies for three white men and a woman isolated at Fort Ross, a fur trading post in the far north, may reach the lonely settlement early in November.

Plans for sending air relief, possibly a United States army air force plane, as soon as weather conditions permit were near completion here.

"We hope to have relief for the post about the first week in November," R. H. Cheshire, manager of the Hudson's Bay Company fur trade department, told The Canadian Press.

"If the plane is unable to land, supplies will be dropped by parachute," he said.

If a landing is possible, the post manager, his wife, an apprentice clerk, and a police constable are expected to be brought out by plane.

Mr. Cheshire said if the manager and his staff are brought out, the post will be closed until a relief ship reaches Fort Ross, possibly sometime next year.

The officers at Fort Ross have only a month's food supply. The regular supply ship, due to severe ice conditions, has not been able to reach the post for two years.

Fort Ross is 1,000 miles from Churchill, northern Manitoba port, and is some 400 miles north of the Arctic circle—farther north than any other Canadian settlement.

The staff at Fort Ross includes W. A. Heslop of Newcastle-on-Tyne, the post manager, his wife, the former Babe Irwin of Winnipeg, D. W. Munroe, clerk, Clannwilliam, Man., and Constable C. L. De Lisle, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa.

"They are in first class shape," said Mr. Cheshire. "We have exchanged messages, making plans for a possible airplane landing."

He said October was not a "good weather month" in the far north, with heavy fogs sweeping across the land, but generally conditions show improvement in the early days of November.

Giant Air Liner Is Planned To Be Built In Britain

LONDON.—Britain, conscious of the vital role aircraft will play in limiting the construction of the world after the war, has given the "go ahead" signal for production of the Empire's "Queen Mary" of the skies.

Construction of the giant air liner will be a "spare time" job of the British Aeroplane Company which builds the Blenheim, Beaufort and Beaufighter. The ministry of aircraft production which has passed the initial plans and specifications has issued instructions for the building to go ahead providing it does not interfere with normal war output.

Leslie G. Frise, chief aircraft engineer of the company, who was responsible for the designs of the Beaufort and Beaufighter, has just about completed the detailed plan. It is expected that they will shortly be transformed from the blue print into fact.

"The new machine is not just a 'blow-up' version of the usual airplane shape," said an article in "London Calling," BBC publication. "It is revolutionary in many ways—in structure, motive power and even shape."

"Most details, naturally, are secret but some information has been permitted to pass censorship. The aircraft's weight, without passengers, will be 130 tons and powered by special motors totalling 20,000 horsepower, it will have a cruising speed of about 250 miles an hour.

It will carry 150 passengers across the Atlantic in about 15 hours for a fare which is expected to run about $200 a head. Its journey will be made through the stratosphere because at such heights there is usually less wind and fewer "bumps."

PROTECT WORKS OF ART

LONDON.—Sir James Grigg, war secretary, told the reconvened House of Commons that British and American experts in occupied Italian territory were taking over the protection and supervision of all ancient monuments, museums and art works. He added that damage due to the war was being repaired.

THE JOB AHEAD OF US ON THE FIFTH VICTORY LOAN

The war has now entered its fifth year. Today, we are on the march. Our soldiers, our sailors, our airmen—the military strength of the United Nations—mighty in number and equipment—are attacking on all fronts.

The Hun has been chased from North Africa. Mussolini is gone, and Italian resistance is crumbling. Our Russian allies are slowly smashing back the German armies. Our air forces are blasting Germany with huge bombing raids, preparing the way for an all-out land assault on Hitler's fortress. On the Atlantic, the battle against the subs is running in our favor. And, in the Far East, Japanese aggression has been halted, with our offensive in this region gradually gaining in size and momentum.

We are all aware of these facts—they are the news of the moment. But, we also know that the toughest part of the battle still lies ahead. Our progress on world battle fronts gives fresh spirit to press onward to our goal—but our advances up to now are only a start. It is going to take a lot of hard bloody fighting to completely defeat Germany and Japan—to smash their still powerful military forces, and make them willing to accept our terms of "unconditional surrender."

To bring this war to a victorious end, we must have—and we must maintain—overwhelming superiority in men and equipment. We must continue our war effort—on the home front as on the battlefield—with the same purpose and determination which carried us through the anxieties and reverses of the last four years.

The slogan of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan is "Speed the Victory." Each of the four previous Victory Loans has been a great success. The Fifth Victory Loan must be an even greater success—it must be another milestone in our march to Victory.

It's your job to "Speed the Victory" by selling more Bonds to more people than ever before.

PARKING LOT

Talking about ill winds, even the most violent critics of the new Central Terminal at the Canadian National Railways in Montreal have conceded it has one valuable use. Not the station itself, but the station property. Since its magnificent opening a few months ago, it has proved a boon to Montreal motorists who have to park in that area of the city. The wide cement courtyard in front of the station itself, a similar section under the Dorchester street viaduct and the various paved streets running around it are all filled up early in the morning with cars of motorists.

To some the price of $27,000,000 may seem a little high for a parking lot, but this is wartime—and there was apparently a great need.—The Printed Word.

Charles R. Ward, pioneer resident and for many years a notary, real estate and insurance agent, has been appointed police magistrate at Cranbrook, succeeding the late T. M. Roberts.

A FISH STORY

Ray Wilby is warning all his pheasant-shooting friends to be prepared for a rough time when the season opens next Monday, for he has had experience to prove that this year's crop of ring-necks includes some birds that like to play rough. Ray was enjoying his after-dinner relaxation in the living room of his home recently when, without warning, a big cock pheasant crashed through a four-foot-square window, leered at him, strutted up and down in front of him and then calmly flew out through the shattered windowpane.

Several local gardeners are also vowing vengeance on the birds, but the only way most of them will get a chance for revenge, with the current sturgeon shell shortage, is to snare 'em.—Brooks Bulletin.

SPEAKING OF TIME

Voltaire asked himself the question: "What, of all things in the world, is the longest and shortest, the swiftest and the slowest, the most divisible and the most extended, the most neglected and the most regretted, without which nothing can be done, which is little, and enlivens all that is great?"

And then through the hero of his "Zadig, a Mystery of Fate," he answered: "Time."

"Nothing is longer, since it is the measure of eternity."

"Nothing is shorter, since it is insufficient for the accomplishments of your projects."

"Nothing is more slow to him that expects; nothing more rapid to him who enjoys."

"In greatness it extends to infinity, in smallness it is infinitely divisible."

"All men neglect it; all regret the loss of it; nothing can be done without it."

"It consigns to oblivion whatever is unworthy of being transmitted to posterity, and it immortalizes such actions as are truly great."

CARLYLE ANNOUNCES

RETIREMENT

W. L. Carlyle, former manager of the Prince of Wales E.P. Ranch at High River, celebrated his 73rd birthday last week by giving himself what he figures the grandest birthday present he ever received. He sold out the last of his business interests and retired.

For twenty-one years Mr. Carlyle has been head of the Hillcrest-Mohawk Collieries, first as president and acting manager, and during the past five years as vice-president and general manager.

PAID HIGHWAYS

Highway and road building as an important aspect of post-war reconstruction was discussed by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works. In a recent broadcast. A special reserve fund for this purpose is being built up. Foundations are already laid, he said, in the "pay-as-you-go" policy adopted by the Alberta government some eight years ago by which money voted by the legislature out of revenue is used to build and maintain highways with our own machinery and skilled staff.

In dealing with the importance of roads to the people of Alberta, Mr. Fallow declared this province has enough bitumen to hard-surface all the roads and highways on the American continent. Restrictions of war times have necessarily impeded the road programme, but in spite of this the minister stated that "the current year has witnessed the greatest expansion of highways and roads in the history of Alberta."

Mr. Fallow revealed that the people of Alberta owe $44,000,000 on roads which he said no longer exist. "The roads have gone," he said, "but the debt of $44,000,000 continues, and even at the present reduced interest rates is costing the taxpayers over $1,000,000 each year."

NOT MUCH ENCOURAGEMENT

The other day a Lethbridge district farmer was fined for growing 11 acres of potatoes when he had a permit to grow only 10 acres.

That's about on a par with the practice of fining a hog raiser $3 for producing a hog which is two or three pounds overweight.

The bureaucrats are running wild. It's a good thing for Canada's war effort that the fellows who believe in fines were not in charge of the great agricultural production machinery. The mentality that believes in fining farmers for producing too much wouldn't have done a very good job of producing more food for the Allies.—Lethbridge Herald.

So Awful in a Bowler Hat

At the breakfast table his wife was relating to him an incident that had occurred at the club the previous night. The chairman had offered his bowler hat to the member who could stand up and truthfully say that during his married life he had never kissed any woman but his wife.

"And, would you believe it, Mary, no one stood up!"

"George," said Mary, "why didn't you stand up?"

"Well, I was going to, but I look so awful in a bowler hat."

Husband: "Twenty dollars?"

Wife: "Yes, but only give me ten of it, then you'll owe me ten and I'll owe you ten, and we'll be square."

No, He Ain't Drunk

In the moonshine districts, where the whiskey looks like water and is drunk like water, strange ideas prevail as to what intoxication really is. In a village one Sunday afternoon a man lay in the broiling sun in the middle of the road, with a empty bottle by his side. "He's drunk! Lock him up," the sheriff said; but a woman interposed hastily: "No, he ain't drunk; I just seen his fingers move."

At The Garden Gate

This actually happened in Blairmore. One night a snappily dressed young man, saying "Good-Bye" to his fiancée, was leaning on the garden gate. "I'm going to ask you a great favor," the girl said hesitatingly. "It is already granted," he answered. "A very great favor," she repeated, as if doubtful of the propriety of saying what it was. "You're sure that you won't think it presumptuous or forward of me?" "Never!" he assured her. "Only tell me what I can do for you." "Well," she replied, "would you mind not leaning on that gate? Father pointed it this afternoon, and he will be awfully provoked if he has to paint it again."

The Edmonton RCAF band will stage a concert at Fernie tonight, and will also provide music for a dance.

Local thermometers recorded ten degrees above zero on Wednesday morning, the coldest for the season.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slacked for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Highly essential work—very important in Canada's war effort and for the welfare of the Nation—is threatened with shortages of workers. One of the few sources of men available for other high priority jobs is those men on the farm who will not be needed at home during the Fall and Winter. Heavy needs must be met in many lines—producing vitally essential forest products; in base metal and coal mining, in food processing, in railway track maintenance. If you live on a farm and are not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, you are urged to answer this national appeal.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack season on the farm.

Please answer this vital call NOW.

HOME SERVICE

MAKE YOUR PARTY A SUCCESS WITH THESE GAMES

A Party Game

Don't sit and worry about your party being a success? If you're entertaining a few servicemen at your home do not be at a loss as to how to entertain them. It's so easy to work up a few interesting games.

The illustration above shows the mixed music game. The leader of this imaginary orchestra stands in front of players who sit in semi-circle. To begin, leader pantomimes a violinist, and players imitate trumpeters. When the leader changes and blows a saxophone, the orchestra begins to rattle.

As the leader switches from one instrument to another, players immediately start to perform on the instrument the leader has just stopped playing. Those failing to do so, pay a forfeit when game stops.

Our 32-page booklet is full of games for all kinds of parties. The games are of all types—from brain teasers to rollicking action games. No party will be dull with these to play.

You can easily make your party a success with a few of these games. Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Party Games for All Occasions" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg News-paper Union, 115 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

ROLL CALL OF HEROISM

The fearful roll call of heroism is sufficient witness to the valor of our multiple ally, the British Commonwealth of Nations, says the Detroit Free Press. Only the Soviet Union and China, whose homelands have been ravished by the Axis invaders' ground force, can show a greater sacrifice to the common cause.

ARMY POSSIBILITIES

A Betty-Grubish young thing was watching some soldiers drill. A rifle volley rang out. With a scream the lovely young lady shrank back—into the arms of young soldier.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, blushing. "I was so frightened by the rifle. Won't you please forgive me?"

"It's all right," the soldier assured her. "Let's go over and watch the artillery."—War Wit.

MENTAL ILLNESS

An individual is just as apt to suffer from a sick mind as from an infected appendix or gastric ulcer, but to most people mental illness still spells a major crisis with serious social and economic implications for the relatives as well as the patient. The stigma that is still attached to mental illness militates against seeking early medical advice, and accepting that advice when treatment is counselled. A rational, understanding conception of such misfortune, when it comes, will help to put the patient under competent medical care promptly, assure his protection, and relieve relatives of much of the sense of stigma, which is only a hang-over from the days of witchcraft and casting out devils.

A major contribution to bringing about a more rational public attitude toward mental illness has been made by Edith M. Stern, an authoritative lay writer, whose little book, "Mental Illness: A Guide for the Family," has been published by The Commonwealth Fund, New York ($1.00 U.S.). Mrs. Stern answers the anxious questions of those who have mentally ill relatives.

Two well known Canadian authorities in the mental health field recommend that this book be made available to all public health nurses. It would make a good handbook for physicians as well as nurses but since mental ill health may strike any one, we recommend it for general reading. The language and presentation are in simple English. The contents reveal a thorough understanding of the subject. In appendices, the author lists United States mental hospitals and mental hygiene societies. It is to be hoped that a Canadian edition containing this useful information will be published, or that any subsequent American editions will include Canadian directory.

CALIBER OF GUNS

A naval cannon's caliber is the diameter of its bore, but if we speak of a 14-inch gun of 45 caliber, it refers to a cannon whose bore is 14 inches, and whose length of barrel is 45 times 14.

Sailor's Life For Me

The best is none too good for Canadian sailors at sea, and cooks aboard corvettes, minesweepers and destroyers must be good at their jobs. So that men can be released for duty at sea, there have to be Wren cooks to do the work in naval training establishments ashore. In the picture above, Wren Bunting and Wren Randall, both from Toronto, are hard at work helping to feed naval ratings, officers and Wrens in their establishment. They say "It's a satisfying job when you hear what the sailors say about the improved menus now that the women are in charge!" Single, or married women without dependent children are accepted for enlistment as long as they are from 18 to 45 years of age.

Ripley Could Use This Story About Two Box Cars

Six years ago, railroad yards in eastern Canada built a series of new box cars. One car was No. 471,901 and the next was No. 471,902. Since then tens of thousands of cars have been constructed. A short time ago both of these units turned up at a loading platform of a Winnipeg war plant, one right behind the other. Railroad statistical experts say they wouldn't even hazard a guess as to when such a coincidence might occur again.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 24

HONORING OUR PARENTS

Golden text: Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. Ephesians 6:1.
Lesson: Exodus 20:12; Luke 2:48-51; Mark 7:6-13; John 19:25-27.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 4:10-18.

Explanations and Comments

Honor—love and respect—thy father and mother. The promise of length of days—that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee—was not so much promise for the individual Israelite as it was for the nation itself. Such a relation between children and parents will be good for the national life, will conduce to the virility and stability of the people as a whole, and will make for the long life and prosperity of the nation. A prosperous national life is dependent upon respect for authority. Few people have lived up to this commandment as have the Jews. The family has been central with them more than it has been with certain other races, and no doubt the secret of their persistence as a people and the longevity of their racial spirit have their explanation largely here. A right relationship between parents and children is a virtue which brings many other virtues in its train. A home in which parents and children are at continual cross-purposes will be a menace to the moral health of the community.

"Happy is the child who passes by easy steps from honoring his father to hallowing the name of his God; and happy the parent whose character is such that their children discover in them a pre-shadowing of the nature of God himself" (F. B. Meyer).

Jesus as a Boy Honored His Parents, Luke 2:48-51. Here we have part of that beautiful story about Jesus in the temple as a lad of 12 years, the parents' search for him, his mother's rebuke, his saying which they understood not that he "must be in his Father's house." Then after that great experience he went back to Nazareth with them and was subject unto them.

High Quality Flax

Canadian Flax Compares Favorably With That Of Other Countries

The quality of Canadian flax in comparison with that of other countries is very favourable, states the Dominion Department of Agriculture in a report on Oil Seeds Investigations. Iodine in the oil content is important. In a study of four varieties of flax grown at 54 stations from Alaska to Mexico, the iodine number from the samples grown in Canada exceeded those from any other region except those grown in the southwest under irrigation. As compared with the Great Plains and Northern Prairie regions where most of the U.S. crop is grown, the Canadian grown flax averaged 12 points better in iodine number. In test comparisons between Argentine and Canadian flax, the iodine content of the Canadian flaxseed was somewhat higher.

Bells Ring Again

Cascades Of Sound From Twin-Sleeping Churches Of Malta

Malta's bells, those that are left, are ringing again; the need for keeping them mute has passed. Barbare bells! Anyone who has not heard Malta's straggling streets has missed an unforgettable experience, states the Manchester Guardian. Cascades of sound pour down from the twin-sleeping churches to roll their brazen discord over the sunbaked roofs. On the many "festal" days to the noise of the bells is added the spluttering explosions of hundreds of maroons and crackers. And all the while, in the steeples the uncontrolled bell-ringers keep up their attack of sound. Boys and youths, they ring every bell together and enjoy the effect.

Beau Jonathan

by J.B. Ryan

CHAPTER VII
THE metamorphosis from grimy chimney sweep into a clean shaven valet was soon made, but the change from Puck to Jonathan was less speedy. While it required but a day to acquire the latest styled hats, coats and hose and the black wig needed by Jonathan, and the dye with which his mustache was to be darkened as it appeared, the learning of the intricacies of dice and cards under the tutelage of Matt Tucker delayed for three days the appearance at London's most expensive of the dazlingly garbed man whom that individual's attendant, engaging rooms for his master described to the landlord as "Master John Hale." Said the landlord, "Master John Hale."

The inn was orderly. Unlike the Golden Hind, there was no gambling in the public room. Jonathan ordered and drank with his meal a bottle of the establishment's most expensive white, then spoke to Tucker who again sought the landlord. "It is a long time," said the erstwhile chimney sweep, "since my master, who has just returned from the continent, has visited London. Could you suggest a place or two where a gentleman could find entertainment?"

Mine host, already impressed by the evident wealth of his customer, came himself to Jonathan's table. "Would you care for cards, Master Hale? Or dice? There is a room upstairs where many of the gentry gather to amuse themselves."

"That will be excellent," approved Jonathan, brushing a napkin over his empyro mustache. "I can see that I am going to enjoy my stay here."

THE innkeeper conducted Jonathan up the stairs to a room entered by opening closed sliding doors. The room was cluttered with men of various ages and stations, playing cards and sitting idly about. The landlord accosted a dapper young fellow, spoke to him in an undertone for a moment, then nodded for Jonathan to approach.

"This is Sir Maurice Blaine, said the landlord, "Master John Hale." Sir Maurice led the newcomer toward the tables. "What would you like to play?"

"Cards," said Jonathan. The gambling lessons of Tucker had showed Jonathan that dice was a game of pure chance, where as the fortunes at cards could be influenced to a large measure by the player's own judgment and ability to make decisions.

The gold in Mona Deny's purse was low by this time, since Jonathan's determination to be the perfect man of fashion had been realized at a price. Yet the meagerness

THIS principal, seconds, and witnesses of this affair of honor, trooped downstairs and into the rear yard of the tavern.

Shattuck drew his sword and faced the waiting Jonathan. Jonathan lifted his weapon and the points touched in salute. The dragon had the body of a trained fighting man. Trained, too, was the arm that sent the bright steel weaving before Jonathan.

Unlike Shattuck, Jonathan had never been schooled in the art of fencing. But he was born with an instinctive co-ordination of muscle which stood him in good stead now.

Captain Shattuck's moves were conscious, the result of what he had been taught in long hours of drilling. Jonathan's actions were natural, quick and effortless as those of an animal.

Shattuck executed what Jonathan did not know was a thrust in three times, but his blade moved, nonetheless, into the correct parry, straightening the sword of the dragon and then, before Shattuck could recover, Jonathan's weapon was in, dipping like a fang into the golden armor, twisting, and the sword was jerked out of Shattuck's hand.

Jonathan sheathed his sword and bowed. "I have pinked you, captain, and disarmed you. Honor has been satisfied. Or is it your desire to continue?"

The soldier, his face sobered and paled by the speed with which the encounter had been terminated, shook his head. "I apologize, Master Hale," he grinned ruefully. "As you said, the win must have affected my spleen."

JONATHAN picked up the other's sword and returned it. "Now, gentlemen," he said, "this bout of exercise has whetted my appetite, if not my steel. Will you join me in the breakfast hall that should be ready in your mind?"

Sir Maurice led into step with Jonathan, the party all unpleasantness forgotten, turned toward the tavern.

"You are staying long in London, Master Hale?"

"I had hoped to spend some time in the city," he answered Blaine. "I shall make London my home if I can find a more suitable residence than a public inn."

Or a number of houses on Pall Mall. Sir Maurice rose to the bait. "I shall be pleased to lease or sell one of them to you. That would be a most pleasant arrangement, Master Hale. It would make us neighbors."

"Excellent!" Jonathan approved with just the right infection of carelessness. "Give me the address and I shall send my man Tucker around to look at the place."

(To Be Continued)

Jonathan is host to the elite of London.

British Sacrifices

People Have Given Up Every Luxury To Win War

The luxury trades have been eliminated in the United Kingdom by the determination of the government to devote all effort to winning the war. Luxuries no longer are manufactured there, and taxation discourages purchase of goods of that kind made in earlier years. A 100 per cent. purchase tax on the whole sale price is levied on silk dresses, leather trunks and bags, fur coats, cut glass and jewelry. Silk stockings are simply unobtainable. Competition and performance are sources of sporting events and horse races have been drastically curtailed. Speedway racing has been prohibited. No gasoline is available for pleasure driving. SELECTED RECIPES

PLUM PUDDING
1 cup grated raw carrots
1 cup raisins
1 cup grated soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup suet, finely chopped
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup currants
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground allspice.

Mix ingredients in order given. Turn into large well-greased mold (1 1/2 quart), or 8 individual moulds. Do not fill with or moulds more than 3/4 full. Cover tightly. (Be sure to cover cover too.) Set on a rack in a large kettle or steamer, which has been half-filled with boiling water. Steam small moulds for 1 1/2 to 2 hours; large moulds for three hours. Replenish steamer with boiling water during the steaming period, if necessary. Unmould on a heated serving platter; serve hot with Peany Sauce. Note: If pudding is not used immediately, reheat for 1/2 hour before serving. Serves 8.

Peany Sauce
1 tablespoon Benson's or Canada Corn Starch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1/2 cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
1 egg, separated
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine corn starch and salt with 2 tablespoons of the milk, then blend with the remainder of the milk in top part of double boiler. Beat egg yolk with a fork and mix with corn syrup; add to milk mixture. Cook all together, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick. Remove from fire, cool and add vanilla. Just before serving, fold in beaten egg white. Serve with suitable baked or steamed pudding. Serves 8 to 10.

Victory Bonds Will Pay Off The Mortgage In Advance

In every Victory Loan campaign, though most of the big shows and colourful spectacles have taken place in large cities, smaller communities and the rural centres have always realized the vital importance of these national appeals. From advance reports reaching national headquarters of the War Finance Committee, smaller centres are planning to support the fifth drive more than ever before.

The war has placed heavy responsibilities on Canadian farmers, with food such a vitally important weapon of defensive and offensive operations. Farm labour is scarce; farm machinery is rationed. Particularly for the individual in the rural district who plans to pay off a mortgage on his farm or some other long term debt in the future, Dominion government securities are the safest way to keep savings intact until they are needed.

Other Canadians, due to the exigencies of war, have been deprived of home ownership. As a matter of fact in many communities they have been lucky to get even a roof over their heads. Today, through the purchase of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates, these people can literally pay off the mortgage on a new house in advance. When the war ends, they will be able to give a builder or contractor the go-ahead signal and prepare to move right in.

Canadians who invest $1,000 in this loan, and who have subseguent a similar amount in each of Canada's war loans to date, will have $5,000, plus interest, available for home purchasing after the war. They will have succeeded in paying off their mortgage in advance and can move into their new homes, finance any worry free.

Other families have been setting up similar funds through their purchases of Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates to provide for their children's university education or for their own retirement. Victory bonds will help each of these people pay for the things they are fighting for.

SOUNDSTAY
The soundest and quite possibly the most economical way of dealing with old age pensions is to make them in fact payable to everybody on application of the stipulated age. The application of a means test should be done away with, the need for a contributory staff would then disappear and the peace of mind and self-respect of the old people would be restored.—Western Producer (Saskatoon).

HELP IS INVALUABLE
Elephants in Burma are trained to drag logs, carry heavy loads, and help build bridges, and each animal can do in a single day the work of 20 to 300 men. Naturally, they are invaluable to the army engineers.

LETTER FROM BRITAIN

Solving 5,000,000 Problems—Citizens' Advice Bureaux Extend Real Helping Hand To Workers—Lightening War's Burden.

(By Sidney Hornblow)
WINSTON CHURCHILL'S fighting speeches have been an inspiration to the people of Britain, as well as to all those united with them in the common cause, through four long years of war. They have sometimes sounded a warning note, often urged action, but they have always been encouraging. And none more so than this review of the war on his return from the United States.

News from the fighting fronts continues good; for four months no merchant vessel has been sunk by enemy action in the North Atlantic; preparations are being pushed ahead for the great assault on Germany from the West.

But there is no tendency to regard the war as won even though planning for post-war development is now being done in almost every sphere. There are thousands about the fact that, as Mr. Churchill reminded the nation, the bloodiest portion of the war has yet to come. The United States is in a mood of sober confidence that the workers of Britain today respond to the increasing calls for output, and the changes in manufacturing each other to that spirit of camaraderie which is even more pronounced in this war than in the last.

They are enjoying the surging pleasures, the same of concerts, the same plays and musical productions. When the war is over they will take back to their own countries an appreciation of English music and drama as well as the technique of working together which has been evolved so successfully in war and will be continued in peace.

Smoothing Out Difficulties
As war makes still deeper inroads into the normal family life of the nation, and people find themselves working in strange places in strange jobs, they welcome more than ever the helping hand which is extended to them by a remarkable organization called the Citizens' Advice Bureaux. This service was started in 1919 on the day after war began. Two hundred offices were opened in various parts of the country. That number has since grown to more than a thousand, employing altogether about 7,000 people—almost all of whom are volunteers. In four years of war the Citizens' Advice Bureaux have answered more than 5,000,000 enquiries. They deal with 7,000 questions and applications for help each day. Their job really is to advise people who suddenly find themselves faced with some personal or domestic problem arising from the war.

The blitzes, the call up for the fighting services, the transfer of young factory workers to strange new cities—all these things confronted men and women with unexpected queries and difficulties which the Citizens' Advice Bureaux set themselves to smooth out. Many Government Departments, particularly the Board of Trade which is concerned with rationing, find the Advice Bureaux of great help in explaining to the public some of the more obscure points of the various rules and regulations.

Ensuring All Health
One thing which has lightened the burden of war on the shoulders of the nation has been the unfailing good health of the people, despite the strain of concentrated effort under adverse conditions. There have been no serious epidemics since war began, and for infectious disease 1942 has been one of the best years on record. British community health in respect is due in some measure undoubtedly to the ingenious precautions which have been taken by health authorities.

Bacteriologists with their staffs of competent assistants were organized into mobile units ready to go at a moment's notice to any part of the country where infection showed signs of developing. These "commandos" of the emergency public health laboratory service were stationed at various centres in such a way as to enable them to provide the whole country with instantaneous help should it ever be needed.

Peat Bogs
Production In Ontario And Quebec May Ease Coal Shortage

Canada is digging more deeply into peat bogs estimated to cover 37,000 square miles to help meet the present fuel shortage. The peat is used as fuel in itself is no solution of the problem.

Some 1,200 tons of peat—representing new production—has been turned out in Quebec this year, and Ontario output has been enlarged. The peat is being used in the development of peat resources has been the collection of sphagnum moss found in peat bogs. Used extensively for treating wounds during the first Great War, the moss now has greater uses. It is employed in certain chemical processes, in assisting the preservation of vegetables, and in agricultural activities.

Lignite is a woody type of immature coal that splits up into slabs on drying. 2538

Here's Quick Relief from SINUS PAIN

3-Purpose Medicine Helps Clear Out Congested Sinus Areas

One best way to get relief from torping sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Vapo-rinol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-PURPOSE MEDICINE
Vicks Vapo-rinol is so successful because it does three important things:
(1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's the best relief they've found. Try it!

General Eisenhower Has Seven To Use In Tight Spots

General Dwight D. Eisenhower learned to fly in the Philippines but is not a first class pilot. He recently "shrank" a small cabin plane five feet off the ground. The result was a bump when the plane squashed down, but nobody was hurt. Except on rare occasions, he pays no attention to enemy propaganda. He is not interested in what the Germans or Japanese have to say. An exception was during the Salerno landing when the Berlin radio said another "Dunkergue" was developing. "The general commented that those assertions were nonsensical. He has several superstitions. He keeps seven lucky coins in his pocket in a special leather bag. In tight spots he takes one out and rubs it ceremoniously. He thinks Friday is his lucky day.

The city of Calgary will invest $275,000 in the Fifth Victory Loan.

St. Luke's Guild will hold their annual bazaar November 20th in the Oliva hall.

"JET" for polishing hot stoves is a boon. Winter months mean hot stoves always. "JET" is safe, handy. Sold everywhere.

Mrs. R. W. H. Pinkney spent the week end in Calgary with her daughter Thelma, who is patient in the Holy Cross hospital.

We asked Charlie a few days ago why he was painting most of his property gray. His reply was: "Oh, gettin' old like myself."

Tea and coffee are shortly to be removed from the ration list.

Pincher Creek United church 18th anniversary was observed on Sunday last.

P. Chardon was a business visitor to Calgary the early part of the week.

The inquest into the deaths of Robert Wilson and Fred Slogg takes place in Coleman today.

To estimate a professional man's income, add his bellyaching to his wife's bragging and divide by two.

In some of the larger centres of Alberta Sunday, October 21st, is to be observed as Victory Loan Sunday.

Sir Dudley Pound, who was taken ill while returning from the Churchill-Roosevelt conference at Quebec, died in London on Wednesday at the age of 66. He had been called the father of Britain's present strategy of aggressive action.

The South Alberta branch of the Alberta Motor Association has been advised that the Logan Pass Road, Glacier Park, is now closed for the season. The Chief Mountain port of entry was closed some time ago.

When you think how tough it is to deny yourself to save money to buy bonds, think of the boys who left their homes to go into the armed forces, and who are every day facing the enemy. What is our sacrifice as compared to theirs.—EX.

The Bellevue Ukrainian Society is right behind the Victory Loan. At a special meeting its members voted 100 per cent participation and pledged they would invest not less than $100 each. There were fifty persons at the meeting, which means an investment of at least $5,000.

The 59-year-old Newfoundland sealing steamer Terra Nova, lost recently, had to her credit over 800,000 seals. Her first voyage was in the spring of 1885 in charge of Captain A. Fairweather.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bowerman, of the Cowley district, have taken up residence in Blairmore, occupying the G. Snod residence. Mr. Bowerman has entered upon employment at the local mine.

A Mountain Park miner paid a fine of $25 and costs for quitting work without permission. What about others in Alberta who do not and never did intend to work? Surely something can be done with them.

The Red Deer Advocate in its last issue announces sixteen farm auction sales. Other provincial papers carry similar announcements of sales. The farmers are apparently leaving the farms in large numbers—a rather discouraging reflection so far as old settlement is concerned.

Right Rev. H. R. Ragg, D.D., Anglican Bishop of Calgary, visited St. Luke's church here on Tuesday evening, where he had the pleasure of meeting many members and adherents of the church. A reception was held in the church hall. While in the Pass, Bishop Ragg was house guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Hague at Coleman.

An official of the International Woodworkers of America received a one-cent donation towards the Queen Charlotte Island strike fund. The accompanying letter read: "One day's pay to the Queen Charlotte fund—after deduction of taxes, compulsory savings, war charities, sick benefit, hospitalization, compensation and invisible taxes, dog taxes, hunting license and liquor permit."

The Olds Gazette remarks: A little old lady of the town, whose only means of support is her old age pension, had saved enough out of her meagre allowance to buy a bond. She met the canvassers with a smile on her face and an old teapot in her hand, containing exactly the price of a bond. Another old widow, where even the saleaday did not expect to make a sale, was ready and rather than buy a much needed winter coat she helped "Speed the Victory" by buying a $50 bond.

There passed away at Bellevue at an early hour this morning a well known miner named Joseph Peto, a native of Hungary, aged 21 and a half years. Peto suffered injuries in the mine a short while ago. Funeral takes place from the parents' residence near Hillcrest on Sunday, proceeding to the Hillcrest Roman Catholic church, where Lebers will be sung. The remains will be laid to rest in St. Theresa's cemetery. A. E. Ferguson, of the Crow's Nest Pass Funeral Home, is in charge of arrangements.

We have heard many words of praise for the proposed new highway to connect the Crow's Nest Pass up with Calgary. The surveys have been completed, and much of the new grade is already being used. It is to run north from Burnis, crossing the North Fork river at Walrand and proceeding straight north through what is known as the Porter Ranch, then on to the Highway river and connect with the present highway in the vicinity of Okotoks. The new highway will shorten the distance between Blairmore and Calgary by fully seventy miles, as well as carry you through far more scenic country than afforded by the present route, on which one has to travel at least sixty miles unnecessarily—thirty miles from Cowley east and thirty miles back to reach Calgary. This will be another big after-the-war job.

He was a strict teetotaler, but unfortunately had a very red nose. One day a customer said to him: "I say, old man, what is wrong with your nose?"

"Nothing at all," replied the red-nosed one. "It is simply blushing with pride because it does not stick itself into other people's affairs."

BE READY for THE VICTORY LOAN SALESMAN when he calls on you

ONE of these days a Victory Loan salesman will call on you . . . one of your neighbors or a man from this community who may be well known to you.

He is going to talk to you about saving money. That is all he asks you to do when he asks you to buy Victory Bonds. He will ask you to save money . . . and lend it to your country.

Perhaps you have a son or daughter in uniform . . . a lot of boys from this community are in the fighting forces. You would like to see them at home . . . and you would like that day to come soon. Alright! Here is something that you can do to bring them home . . . and to bring them home sooner. You can save money to buy Victory Bonds. Buy all the Victory Bonds you can. Buy them with cash and with money you have in the bank. Buy more on the savings plan which enables you to pay for them over a period of six months. (Your Victory Loan salesman will tell you all about this convenient plan of saving.)

Help your community over the top in this 5th Victory Loan. Help Canada to speed the victory . . . and have money saved for things you will need when the war ends.
